Care Act – training courses

November 2024: Edge Training and Consultancy Ltd are a specialist training provider working across England and Wales. We offer over 200 different courses centred on health and social care law, in particular the Mental Capacity Act, Mental Health Act, Safeguarding and the Care Act 2014. We deliver practice based courses designed to enable staff to feel confident in applying the Act to real life work and practice situations. We use a range of highly qualified and experienced professionals often working in legal, health and social care statutory organisations. Details of our trainers and all the courses we deliver can be found on our website: https://www.edgetraining.org.uk/

All the Care Act courses listed below:

- Are updated regularly to reflect the latest research, guidance and case law.
- Can be tailored to the specific needs of the commissioning organisation and staff group.
- Have individual outlines which give further detail and include feedback from participants. Request a course outline from: admin@edgetraining.org.uk
- Can be delivered online or face to face.

We also develop specialist courses for commissioners that are not listed here.

We provide speakers for conferences or other forums and we run a number of conferences and pay per person training events every year. Details of these are available from: https://www.edgetraining.org.uk/edge-events

Standard

Introduction to the Care Act 2014
This interactive training day is aimed at adult social care practitioners, managers and decision-makers and covers the key provisions of the Care Act, highlighting how the flexibilities and innovations in the Act should drive practice. Participants should have some existing knowledge of adult social care assessments and service provision.

Care Act Legal Update
This interactive training day is aimed at adult social care practitioners, managers and decision-makers who already have a working knowledge of the Care Act and need a refresher. It focuses on recent case law and ombudsman's decisions. Participants should have some existing knowledge of adult social care assessments and service provision.

The Care Act for AMHPs
The Care Act 2014 impacts significantly upon the way that local authorities assess care needs and arrange services, both for individuals 'in need of care and support' and for their carers. This course sets out the most important aspects of the Care Act for AMHPs and, through case studies and discussion, reviews the approach required of practitioners.

Rough Sleeper and PSIC / No Recourse to Public Funds course for council staff and outreach workers.
This one day course focuses on the lawful alternatives to the legally risky range of Front Door responses typically given to people with co-morbidities (mental health, physical disabilities or illness and substance misuse histories) when presented for assessment as homeless, threatened with homelessness, or NRPF and destitute and/or in breach of immigration control.
It looks at the law on identifying accommodation 'plus' needs for nationals and s117 Mental Health Act patients regardless of their immigration status. It supports an integrated and co-operative Housing and Care response.

The Care Act for Mental Health Practitioners
This full day practice-based course for Mental Health Practitioners reviews the provisions of the Care Act as relevant to mental health service users. The Care Act 2014 impacts significantly upon the way that local authorities assess care needs and arrange services, both for individuals 'in need of care and support' and for their carers. This course sets out the most important aspects of the Care Act for Mental Health Practitioners. It provides an update on case law, with specific relevance to mental health. The course includes the interface between the Care Act and law relevant to mental health through case studies and discussion.
